

Rob Guy entered the ministry in 1998. He is a proud son and grandson of the parsonage being born the son and grandson CME pastors. He spent his formative years in Louisiana, being born in DeRidder, before attending McNeese State University and serving in the US Army. He is currently assigned as an associate pastor at Christian Chapel C.M.E Temple of Faith where the Senior Pastor is Rev. Dr. Vanessee J Burns. Rob serves the congregation as he oversees mentoring ministries at the Temple of Faith, working in collaboration with the youth ministry. In his current role, his primary ministry focus is overseeing the Sigma Beta Club that serves to mentor the young men in the congregation and works to provide them the mental and spiritual tools they need as they grow into adulthood. They also aim to help them experience social and cultural activities they might not otherwise experience. He also works closely with Mahogany's Angels, which provides similar opportunities to young ladies. Aiding them in having a healthy self-esteem and loving themselves while being productive members of society. The goal is for these young men and women to be instilled with leadership characteristics and to be well rounded Christian adults. He has a strong passion for developing youth into Christian adults that can take an active role in their respective communities. Rob believes that youth are as responsible for their own salvation as adults, using Luke 2:42-52 as a thematic foundation, he seeks to provide the youth with the information and motivation to promote the growth of spirituality in their lives as well as informing them that they ought to be about their father's business. He has a passion for teaching young people that being a Christian doesn't exempt them from their civic responsibilities and they ought to be well rounded, active members of their respective societies.

As a bi-vocational minister, he also works in a secular role with a fortune 500 computer entity in the Dallas metroplex. Rob has been working as an advocate for youth for many years. He started working as a counselor with the Upward Bound and Drive programs in the early 1990's as well as working with the Sigma Beta Club, a youth auxiliary of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., after pledging in 1992. He has been certified through the US Department of Health and Human Services and has taught comprehensive sex education with an emphasis on abstinence until marriage to youth in several venues. While working with organizations like the Skillful Living Center, Scott and White Hospital, True Love Waits, Worth the Wait, and the Choosing the Best program he has aided young people in gaining the knowledge required to make informed decisions in regards to sex and life in general. He's the proud father of two daughters and one son and also has three grandchildren. He loves the Lord, serves the youth and has a passion for assisting and encouraging youth to serve the Lord with the same passion and dedication that he has.
